Clemson vs. N. C. State/Clemson Memorial Stadium

- 5 Edgar Pickett
Clemson's starting defensive end has been teaching opponent offensive linemen a few things for a couple of seasons now. Off the field Edgar has been spending some time teaching some youngsters a few things about life. Kim Kelly-Bishop profiles the senior from North Carolina.
- 7 The Textile Bowl
While Clemson and North Carolina State have been rivals on the gridiron for many years, the two schools have worked toward a common goal in the textile industry. Both institutions have been major reasons the Carolinas is one of the leading textile regions in the world for many years. Here is a summary of what Textile Week is and the effect of the industry on our environment.
- 43 University Feature
Tom Drake will let you know in a hurry he likes to keep a low profile — but it's pretty hard to do when you have a family of 10 and you've been named the 1983 South Carolina Family of the Year.
- 48 Tiger Basketball
Bill Foster's Clemson basketball team is finally healthy, something it hasn't been in the last two years. Vincent Hamilton and Raymond Jones will get reacquainted on the court for the first time since 1980-81 and that is good news for Clemson fans. Tim Bourret takes a look at the Tiger basketball fortunes for 1983-84.
- 67 Norb Goebel
One of the veterans of the Clemson press box staff will be retiring at the end of this season after 33 years. Norb Goebel has been keeping Clemson football game passing statistics for over 150 games dating back to the early fifties. He told Tim Bourret some interesting stories about years gone by in this feature.
- 97 Winter Sports Rundown
While Clemson's gridders are in the middle of their schedule, Clemson's winter sports are in the middle of preseason practice. Here is a look at the Tigers' chances in wrestling, swimming, track and women's basketball this season.
- 99 Roy Brown
The second member of his family to play for the Tigers, Roy Brown has had a lot of setbacks in his Clemson football career, but has always rebounded. Jill Mixon takes a look at the Myrtle Beach, SC native's four-year career.
- 100 Tigers in the NFL
Over 20 former Tigers are now on 16 different NFL teams. Clemson has quite a reputation for producing NFL players, just ask any of the scouts that come to Clemson during the year to assess the players. Sam Blackman summarizes how the current Tiger pros are doing.

Fourth-Quarter Turmoil?

by Jeff Rhodes

Warning: The Surgeon General has determined that watching the fourth quarter of this football game between Clemson and N. C. State could be hazardous to one's health. Patrons unable to stand frantic finishes are asked to leave at the conclusion of the third period.

While we really don't recommend leaving this third annual Textile Bowl early, these two teams have been playing erratic football in the final stanza. Clemson has been outscored in the fourth quarter, 63-24, while N. C. State has been outpointed 54-21 in quarter last. Three of N. C. State's four losses have come because of fourth period failures.

The Tigers have been staking themselves to leads (16-3 at Boston College, 16-6 against Georgia, and 31-10 at Duke) but have been unable to hold those margins late in the game and this disturbing tendency has Danny Ford getting grayer around the temples by the game. But, a win is still a win, and the Tigers have registered a 'W' four times this year.

The Wolfpack, on the other hand, has not been as fortunate on the plus side of the ledger. Rookie coach Tom Reed inherited a youthful team when he came South from Miami of Ohio last winter, and the team's growing pains have resulted in a 2-4 mark halfway through the season.

While N. C. State has a new quarterback and a practically brand-new offensive line, one facet of the 'Pack attack is not new and inexperienced. In fact, it seems like Joe McIntosh has been playing tailback for State since the wing-T was abandoned. McIntosh is only a junior, though, and he only needs seven yards to move past Stan Fritts into second place on the N. C. State all-time rushing list.

This Lexington, NC, native has rushed 111 times (or 38 percent of State's rushing attempts) for 566 yards and four touchdowns so far this year and he has 2,536 yards and 15 scores for his two-year-and-change (even though it seems like eons) career. McIntosh was the ACC's Rookie-of-the-Year in 1981, gaining 1,190 yards, and even though he was injured much of 1982, he still gained 780 yards, 113 of which came against the Tigers in Raleigh. McIntosh has also grabbed 12 passes for 99 yards so far in this campaign.

While it seems the Wolfpack offense runs on the legs of Joe McIntosh, N. C. State is really a balanced team with nearly a pass for every two rushes. Quarterback Tim Esposito is in his first year of starting with the Pack after transferring from Long Beach City College. This native of San Pedro, CA, has done a fine job of running the show. Esposito has completed 63 percent of his passes for a quartet of touchdowns and 1,163 yards. Last week against North Carolina, Esposito set the N. C. State record with 31 completions in 48 attempts. The junior signal-caller also gained 294 yards through the airways against the Tar Heels, which came close, but did not quite get the school record. Esposito is basically a drop-back passer, and Clemson has had problems with that variety of quarterback, as Ben Bennett would gladly attest to.

The Wolfpack offensive line, at first glance, looks to be a very experienced unit, but they are, in fact, quite green. Although there are three seniors playing, only tackle Joe Milinichik, a sophomore, has seen any real action. Guard Greg Steele was moved from defensive tackle last spring, and he has done a good job on the left side. A. V. Richards, the other guard, has been moved so often that he feels he should own stock in Allied, but it looks as though he has finally found a home.

Among the receivers, three sophomores share the spotlight. Jeff Brown, the tight end, is the leading baggage handler with 185 yards on 22 receptions. Split ends Phil Brothers and Stanley Davis split time and the twosome has caught 23 passes between them.

The strength of State's defense can be found in a pair of headhunters named Vaughan Johnson and Andy Hendel, who patrol at linebacker. These two seniors are from the "hit first and ask questions later" school and were the leading tacklers for the Wolfpack last year, an honor they are sure to repeat this season. Johnson has been on the giving end of 70 hits, while his partner in punishment, Hendel, has made 47 tackles. Hendel had eight tackles last year against Clemson. Both of these linebackers were on the preseason All-ACC team selected last summer.

The N. C. State secondary is led by junior free safety Dwayne Greene. Greene has made one interception so far and is third on the Kevin Mack leads the nation in yards per carry by fullbacks.

Bob Paulling has 57 straight successful conversions.

tackle chart with 33. The rest of State's theft corps is much like their offensive line — two seniors who have played a limited role, and a freshman.

Clemson escaped Durham last week with a 38-31 squeaker over Duke that was not decided until James Robinson's deflection of a pass. Even though Danny Ford did not find the "60 Minute Man" he was looking for, several Tigers had outstanding performances.

Senior fullback Kevin Mack had his second straight career high game, as the native of King's Mountain, NC rushed 18 times for 150 yards and a touchdown, including one 53-yard sojourn down the sideline early in the game. Kenny Flowers went over the 100-yard barrier for the second time this year, as he racked up 112 yards on 17 carries and he scored two touchdowns. Flowers' second score came on a beautiful 35-yard sweep, where the native of Daytona Beach, FL, broke three tackles and scooted into the endzone behind Shelton Boyer's grasping block at the goal line.

The Clemson defense obviously will have to improve after giving up over 900 yards in total offense over the last two weeks. Henry Walls and Terence Mack were two freshmen who had solid games however as they made 17 tackles between them. William Perry now has 10 tackles for loss on the season, and few players in the nation can make that claim.

James Robinson is another Clemson player who should be recognized as his two deflections of Ben Bennett passes, one on Duke's last play of the game in the final minute, gave Clemson the much needed victory.

The way things have been going lately for both teams, the fourth quarter is bound to be a thrill a minute. Make sure you have your seat reserved for this entire game today.

Clemson freshman linebacker Henry Walls already has broken William Perry's record for tackles by a freshman. In six games this season Walls has 61 stops, a total that leads the team. He set a freshman single game record with 20 stops at Boston College. The ACC Rookie of the Year candidate had two interceptions in Clemson territory that stopped Virginia drives.

* * *

Clemson fullback Kevin Mack had another fine game against Duke last week as he continues to show people why he is the best all-around back in the ACC. Mack had his first career 100-yard game Oct. 8 vs. Virginia with 109 yards in 13 carries. He added 150 at Duke last Saturday. He currently leads Clemson in rushing with 489 yards and an incredible 7.0 yards per carry figure. He has the top yards per carry figure in the ACC among starting backs, yes, even higher than any tailback in the ACC when it comes to yards per carry. Mack is attempting to become only the third fullback in the last 20 years to lead Clemson in rushing in a season. Marvin Sims (1979) and Wade Hughes (1972) are the only other ones since 1963.

Edgar Pickett — Poster Pin-Up?

By Kim Kelly-Bishop

It was late in the summer of 1980 when a young Yankee college graduate ventured out of her faculty housing apartment to go two doors down and meet the new neighbors. As Clemson's newly appointed assistant sports information director this Yankee had heard that an assistant football coach and his wife were moving in and perhaps, she thought, "I might be able to make friends with another new athletic department member."

And so I met Rick and Mary Whitt which is indirectly how I first came to hear of Edgar Pickett. Pickett, you see, played his prep ball at Central Davidson High School (NC) where Whitt was one of his coaches. Apparently Pickett so impressed Mary Whitt that the shy Clemson rookie's picture adorned the Whitt family refrigerator and he was frequently an invited dinner guest.

"I remember the first time Edgar had dinner with us during his freshman year at Clemson," recalled Mary. "I knew that with both Rick and Edgar eating I'd have to cook a lot so I made two large meatloafs and a huge pot of pinto beans. The three of us ate one meatloaf and then Edgar started on the second one! When it came time for Edgar to go back to the dorm he had the remainder of the meatloaf under one arm and a loaf of bread under the other," she laughed.

"Edgar is the type of person I enjoy being associated with," said Whitt who coached Edgar for two years in high school. "I don't coach Edgar at all at Clemson, but I can still recognize that he is a winner and a hard-working kid."

Mary echoed her husband's sentiments as she explained how the 6-3, 230-pound defensive end's picture ended up as a pin-up on her refrigerator door. "During picture day in 1980 all the other coaches were having their family pictures taken. Rick and I were newcomers and didn't have any children so I thought since Edgar is new and probably doesn't know many people why don't we have our picture taken with him? After all, he was the closest thing we had to family," she said.

And now four seasons later Pickett is no longer the shy rookie from Lexington, NC, but rather a starter and senior leader as well as Clemson's sixth leading tackler. "I am still just a friendly laid-back down-home country boy," he admits, "but I've grown up a lot."

Pickett's growth and maturity are evident, indeed. While he harbors a dream of playing pro football like many a college gridder, the industrial education major also understands the value of a good education and hopes one day to be a teacher.

In fact, Pickett has already involved himself in teacher training of sorts. "I tutor elementary school age children and on occasion Edgar has listened to some of my students read and worked with them," volunteered Mary.

On the other side of the coin Pickett has continued to attend defensive end coach Tommy West's after school sessions in hopes that a fine-tuned set of skills will help him reach two goals; the first being four sacks in a game and the second being a shot at the pros.

"My biggest concern regarding football right now is to do a good job at Clemson," Pickett said. "This is only my second season playing defensive end and I know I've got many areas to perfect. Time, hard work and experience will tell what the future holds for me," he continued. "A defensive end needs to have strength, speed and good field sense. I am confident that I have sound basic skills in all of these areas but there is always room for improvement," added Clemson's 1982 leader in tackles for loss.

The self-improvement plan Pickett has set up for himself includes running and working in the strength training room on his legs. "Leg strength is all important in taking on a tackle and the power you have behind a hit makes all the difference," said Pickett. Additionally Pickett has seen fit to improve upon his familiarity with the multitude of different blocks. How did he do this you ask? Well it seems this past summer Edgar had help from a live-in tutor, his brother, Stafford, who is a senior tight end at Central Davidson.

Yes, the 21-year-old has applied himself both on and off the field. As a defensive end he said he strives to, "never let anything get outside or away from me," and in the classroom he's kept up with his studies and should become a graduate of Clemson University next summer.

Whether the defensive end winds up being a teacher in a classroom or being taught in some pro football camp, he's learned a valuable lesson from having participated in team sports. "People have to work together for a common cause. I don't believe in a one-man show," he concluded.

Regardless if Pickett ever again achieves pin-up status, three people (Rick, Mary and the Yankee) will know that during at least one point in his life, Edgar Pickett commanded top billing in the Whitt family household. And with another year like he had in 1982, he will command top billing in a lot of Clemson fan's households.

Pickett as a poster pin-up.

TEXTILE BOWL

AN ANNUAL TRADITION

This year's Textile Bowl marks the beginning of National Textile Week, which is being observed October 22-29 to focus attention on one of the nation's most important industries.

While Clemson University and North Carolina State University have long been rivals on the football field, today's game is the third to be designated as the Textile Bowl. A silver bowl, donated by Textile Hall Corporation, is presented to the winning team which keeps it until next year's game. Clemson has been victorious in the two previous games.

The two institutions have played important roles in the growth of the textile industry in the Carolinas. Leaders in textile education since the 1890's, they are today among only 12 universities in the nation offering a full range of textile degree programs, from bachelor to doctoral. Together Clemson and North Carolina State have produced over 10,000 graduates highly trained for lucrative and rewarding careers in this diverse field.

Dean of the School of Textiles at North Carolina State is Dame S. Hamby. Dr. Ryan Amacher is dean of the College of Commerce and Industry at Clemson and Dr. Ed Vaughn heads the School of Textiles. They are attending today's game along with leaders in the industry from throughout the Carolinas.

There are 1,794 textile plants in the Carolinas, employing 334,000 people. The combined annual payroll exceeds $4 billion. In South Carolina, 37 percent of the manufacturing workforce is employed in textiles. Textiles is North Carolina's largest manufacturing industry, employing almost three of every 10 manufacturing workers in that state.

The American textile industry with its state-of-the-art technology is the most productive in the world. Over $1.5 billion has been invested in modern equipment in just the past three years. Interestingly, South Carolina is the nation's largest producer of textile machinery and North Carolina is its biggest customer.

Not only do textile corporate taxes finance many worthwhile social programs in the two states but the industry itself is highly philanthropic, contributing millions of dollars to schools, hospitals, libraries, human service organizations and other programs which elevate the quality of life for all who live and work in North and South Carolina.

YOU DON'T GET TO THE TOP BY JUST PLAYING GAMES.

It takes hard work and a lot of practice. And it takes a commitment to being the best. The kind of commitment Clemson students, faculty and alumni have also brought to their positions on the Stevens team throughout the years.

Students filling jobs in nearby plants. Faculty providing continuing education and valuable research. And alumni in management roles.

For years we've worked together to create quality fabrics. Having Clemson on our side has helped keep us at the top, too.

Head Coach Danny Ford

The names Bear Bryant, Amos Alonzo Stagg, Pop Warner, Woody Hayes and Jess Neely all have two things in common. If you are up on your football trivia you know that the five aforementioned men are the top five men in career coaching victories in the college ranks.

This well-known quintet also has another statistic in common. All five had worse records on a percentage basis against major college competition after four seasons than present Clemson Head Coach Danny Ford. We aren't saying Ford is a shoo-in for the Hall of Fame or 300 victories, but the fact does give testimony to the Clemson mentor's level of accomplishment in his first four full seasons as a head coach.

In his four seasons Ford has led Clemson to a 36-10-1 record, two ACC titles and most importantly the institution's first National Championship in any sport. That is a winning percentage of .776, a better winning percentage at a four-year mark than current nationally renowned coaches Vince Dooley, Bo Schembechler, Tom Osborne, Bobby Bowden, Fred Akers, Lou Holtz and Terry Donahue had at the four-year mark in their careers.

In 1982 Ford led Clemson to a 9-1-1 record and his Tigers are now 21-1-1 over the last two seasons. No school in America can claim a better mark. After the 1981 season he was deservedly named national Coach-of-the-Year by an assortment of media and organizations.

He was named National Coach-of-the-Year by United Press International, the American Football Coaches' Association, the Football Writers of America, and the Washington Touchdown Club, in addition to many other local football clubs.

The now 35-year-old Gadsden, Al native has been associated with more winning teams and programs than most coaches come in contact with in a lifetime. Including his years as a player at Alabama under Bear Bryant, Ford has been associated with college football for the last 16 years. Fifteen of those clubs have had winning records and 11 have gone to bowl games. Additionally, the 15 teams have had a record of 133-48-4, a .730 winning percentage.

Ford took over on December 10, 1978. That was a fine day in Clemson athletics because the University announced that Charley Pell had relinquished the head coaching duties of the 1978 Gator Bowl to Ford. Nearly 40 years after hiring 31-year-old Frank Howard, Clemson had hired a gifted 30-year-old to lead the Tiger forces on the gridiron.

Ford conquered all kinds of adversity in leading the Tigers to a nationally televised 17-15 triumph over perennial power Ohio State in the Gator Bowl in his very first game as head coach. Few mentors in NCAA history have made such a celebrated and successful beginning.

With this list of accomplishments, it is little wonder that the Student Affairs Committee of the Clemson Board of Trustees only considered one name as Charley Pell's successor. Danny Ford not only had the backing of Pell, but also from the members of the Clemson football team. He was then assistant head coach and offensive line coach for the Tigers. After two meetings between Ford and the committee on the morning of December 5, 1978, it was the unanimous opinion of the committee that Ford should be named Clemson's 21st head coach.

Ford began his association with college football in 1967 when he started for Bear Bryant at Alabama as Ken Stabler's sophomore tight end. He played three years for Bryant, (including three wins against Clemson) and was an All-Southeastern Conference choice, All-SEC academic selection and team captain during his senior season.

After receiving his B.S. degree in industrial arts in 1970, Ford remained at Alabama as a graduate assistant for the 1970 and 1971 seasons. Upon earning a master's degree in special education in 1971, he was made a full-time assistant under Bryant for the 1972 and 1973 seasons. The Tide went to four more post-season games while Ford was on Bryant's staff.

Clemson's current head man then accepted a position as an assistant coach on Jimmy Sharpe's staff at Virginia Tech. He remained in Blacksburg for three seasons (1974 to 1976), before he was beckoned to Clemson by Charley Pell, who had just been named the Tigers' head coach. Pell and Ford had served together on the VPI staff for two seasons.

And only 23 games later, Ford became head coach of the Tigers at age 30, the youngest Division I head coach in the country.

And three years later he became the youngest coach to lead a team to a national championship.

A Return to Gracious Southern Living

At the convergence of the Chechessee and Colleton Rivers near Hilton Head Island, South Carolina lies Callawassie Island. Here is a place where great herons wing slowly over undisturbed marsh. And, where Tom Fazio has designed a 27 hole masterpiece for your golfing pleasure. Located only a short distance from the Intracoastal Waterway and the Atlantic Ocean, Callawassie also offers a unique real estate opportunity. Consider these points:

- Backed by a solid development company, choice golf course, marsh, and waterfront homesites are still available on this beautiful island. These homesites are large, thickly wooded, and attractively priced.

- Callawassie Island offers a clean, natural and private environment, blessed with lush foliage and one of the largest magnolia forests in the Carolinas.

- Planned amenities other than golf include a swim and racquet complex and a magnificent country club overlooking the Colleton River expanse.

- Callawassie offers an uncrowded, private residential environment. Only 850 property owners will be allowed on this 880 acre island. The result will be a return to gracious Southern living and architectural style.

- Homesites begin at $31,000. For more information or a private tour call (803) 842-4955/726-4500 or write:

Interstates 20, 26, 85, and 95 aren't exactly Broadway, but this fall they'll carry a show to the people of South Carolina as high-spirited and fun-filled as any chorus line the Big Apple has to offer.

Understand, now, there won't be any 12-piece bands, and the cast will perform in places like high school cafeterias and National Guard armories — the kind of places that sort of make you feel at home and that make you proud of your community and state.

And that's just fine. In fact it's perfect. Because the name of this show is "We're Proud to Say," and its plot is straightforward and simple: to celebrate Clemson University, its students, its programs, and its contributions to the quality of life in the Palmetto State.

We're Proud to Say CLEMSON

Clemson has a lot to be proud of, such as:

- the best freshmen SAT scores of any public college or university in South Carolina . . .
- outstanding faculty who have this year received Fulbright awards and been elected to such national offices as President of the National Wildlife Federation . . .
- a record year for private support of Clemson programs, both athletic and academic. Through such donations the numbers of named professorships and full-ticket academic scholarships have expanded to attract and keep the best minds on campus on both sides of the classroom desk.

Featured entertainers at this fall's Clemson nights around the state will be the 4:30 Thursday Singers, a group of energetic Clemson students acclaimed for their vocal talents. There'll be audio-visual presentations as well and brief — and we're serious about that — comments from representatives of the various areas that make up the University community.

"The emphasis will be on fun for the whole family," says Clemson night chairman Jeff McNeill of the Alumni Relations Office. "The evening will include an informal, inexpensive meal, and we're going to keep everything casual and entertaining.

"All we want to do is to show off some of the smart and talented Clemson students that we're so proud of, and to tell folks about some of the great things going on at Clemson University."

Watch for information in your local news media on exact times and locations in your area, and for details on ticket sales.

THE 3 KEYS TO SUCCESS:

Satisfied Clients, Satisfied Clients and Satisfied Clients.

Developing a reputation for excellence is not an easy task. Maintaining that reputation can be just as difficult. At Parker Construction our reputation for excellence has been developed by remembering two key words: client satisfaction. From the moment we become involved with a project to the date of completion, we're dedicated to delivering what's promised, when promised. This kind of dedication has not come by accident. Since our beginning we've taken that extra step to not just satisfy our client's needs, but to perform beyond their expectations. Through the application of modern building technology we've discovered better methods of construction, saving precious time on all projects. Exacting communication and attention to detail has enabled us to complete projects within budget and without compromise. From historic restoration to new construction, Parker is building — building a reputation for excellence and a long list of satisfied clients.

Athletic Director Bill McLellan

Statistics are not for losers when it comes to athletics. Batting averages, scoring averages and passing percentages are used to gauge an athlete's performance, and won-loss records document the abilities of coaches. If there is one statistic or rating system for athletic directors it must be the Knoxville Journal's National All-Sports Poll. It rates the all-around success of a program based on national standings in various sports.

If that poll is the statistical barometer for athletic directors, then Bill McLellan is one of the finest in his field. Under his leadership Clemson has finished in the top five in the nation in the prestigious poll four of the last five years, including a number-five ranking during the 1982-83 academic year. Additionally, Clemson has ranked in the top 36 in the nation every year since 1975-76.

"I believe in the total athletic program at Clemson," said McLellan, who is only the third man to own the title of athletic director at Clemson over the last 48 years. "Every sport is important in this department and we want to have a nationally ranked program in every sport. It is a daily challenge, but a rewarding one."

Highly regarded by his peers, McLellan is also held in respect by Clemson alumni and constituents. In the summer of 1982 he was named as a Distinguished Alumnus of Clemson University, one of the highest honors a Clemson alumnus can obtain.

The native of Hamer, SC, was elevated to his present position on February 4, 1971, but he has served Clemson in almost every capacity.

McLellan was a Tiger gridder in the early fifties, earning a letter in 1953 and 1954. He was also a member of the 1952 Gator Bowl team. He earned a BS degree in agronomy in 1954 and a master's in agricultural economics in 1956.

McLellan joined the athletic staff May 1, 1958 from Clemson's Department of Agricultural Economics and Seed Certification where he had spent one year as assistant agronomist and two years as assistant economist.

Although carrying the title of assistant business manager, McLellan was credited with handling the majority of the department's athletic business and operations long before his appointment into his present role. In 1966 he was named assistant athletic director and two years later was appointed associate athletic director.

During his 13 years as the top man, Clemson has improved its won-loss record by leaps and bounds in nearly every sport, but the growth and improvement in facilities has also improved at a meteoric rate. Clemson has the finest all-around athletic facilities in the South for its 17 intercollegiate sports and McLellan has been the architect of the improvement.

Just look at Clemson's Memorial Stadium. In the last six years alone the seating capacity has increased by over 70 percent with the addition of two upper decks.

The list of improvements for other sports is lengthy, but significant. During his tenure, 20 new tennis courts have been built, new lighting has been installed on a new soccer field, the baseball field has been made into a stadium, additional seating and further improvements have been made to Littlejohn Coliseum, a new swimming pool was built as an addition to a renovated Fike Fieldhouse, a modern, all-weather track was installed, five new football practice fields were added and a golf putting green and driving range were built.

McLellan has also worked tirelessly on further improvements for the University community. The athletic department has made a number of grants to academic programs. Some of the purchases include mini-computers in the College of Education, salary supplements in the math and English departments in addition to the College of Education, support travel for the Tiger Band, and a yearly contribution to the Clemson Sports Symposium, one of the finest of its kind in the nation. Additionally, matching gifts have been made from IPTAY to the special University fund.

The 51-year-old McLellan is also highly regarded for his expertise in television contracts. He has been a chairman of the ACC television committee and has been a chief negotiator in various television contracts. He is the major reason Clemson will have most of its football games seen on nationwide cable systems this season.

Putting something back into the University has a personal dimension for McLellan. "As one of seven children, that athletic scholarship made a lot of things possible for me, and I appreciate the opportunity to pay Clemson back. It's not an ego trip for me, but it is personal satisfaction which no one can ever take away."

Clemson players, coaches and fans are famous for mustering up big appetites. That's when they want the best U.S.D.A. Graded Choice heavy grain-fed Western Beef. Beef that's actually guaranteed to be tender. Every time. And BI-LO's Western Beef Market is where they find it — during football season, or any other time.

In Times Like These, How Do You Keep Businesses Going, Farms Growing, Wheels Turning, Kids Learning, Teams Competing, And Ends Meeting?

It takes work. And careful planning. But you can do the things you need to do. Make it a good life for yourself and the people you love. Make it an even better, brighter future. And you don't have to do it alone.

We'll help. With all the banking services you need. Whether you're just starting out with your first job, first home, first baby. Or you're already established and looking for ways to make the most of what you've accomplished.

But there's more to it than just providing the services you need now. There's the promise that we'll grow with you. Refining services to help you cope with change. Developing new ones to help you get ahead.

So you can come to C&S. And stay with C&S. Like thousands of folks all across South Carolina. They're still building, growing, and achieving, despite the up and down, 'round and 'round times we live in.

But that doesn't come as a surprise. After all, every one of them is a Financial Wizard.

The Golden Anniversary of IPTAY

By Len Gough

On July 1, 1983, IPTAY began its 50th year of service to Clemson University. From a modest beginning as a secret organization, IPTAY has grown into one of the largest athletic scholarship fundraising groups in America.

It was during the summer of 1934 that Dr. Rupert H. Fike, a physician from Atlanta, GA, had the idea to begin a secret organization, a "fraternity" of sorts, that would raise funds for athletic scholarships for Clemson. On August 20, he recruited eight other gentlemen to meet with him at his home in Atlanta.

Meeting with Dr. Fike were: George Suggs, Gene Cox, E. C. Hutchens, Bill Dukes, J. R. Pennell, George Klugh, Milton Berry, and Jack Mitchell. Together these men drafted the constitution, created the ritual, and developed the codes and symbols that only initiated IPTAY members knew.

Parts of the ritual included a pocket piece with symbols, a secret hand shake and unusual greetings. The different titles included IPTAY, which stood for Industry, Perseverance, Temperance, Assistance, Youthfulness or I Pay Ten A Year.

But IPTAY has not succeeded because of secret symbols and initiations. It was only a secret organization for four years. From its beginning with 162 charter members, IPTAY continued to grow until, in 1954, Dr. Fike realized a need for reorganization. A complete revamping of the club took place, and it was decided to have a Board of Directors composed of nine people. Three of these would be appointed by the Chairman of the Athletic Council, with the remaining six being elected to represent the six congressional districts.

In 1950, Gene Willimon had been hired as Executive Secretary and would be joined by three officers, a President, a Vice President and a Secretary-Treasurer, that would be elected from and by the Board of Directors.

The first IPTAY Board of Directors was comprised of Calhoun Lemon, Vic Chapman, R. C. Edwards, Paul Quattlebaum, W. G. DesChamps, Harper Gault, Edgar Rosamond, and J. O. Freeman. The main objective of the directors was to create more interest in IPTAY and Clemson University. In 1958, IPTAY representatives were appointed for the first time. This group now numbers over 500 strong and donates untold volunteer hours promoting Clemson.

As the years passed, the numbers continued to grow. There were 5,200 members in 1954 which became 10,000 in 1959 and now number over 19,000 for the 1983 year. In 1936, Jess Neely said that the sky would be the limit if IPTAY could raise only $10,000. Thanks to the leadership of people like Gene Willimon, George Bennett, and Joe Turner, IPTAY crossed $1 million in 1977, $2 million in 1979, $3 million in 1981, $4 million in 1982, and $5 million for the 1983 fiscal year. With this type of support, it is no wonder that IPTAY has had 20 consecutive record breaking years.

JOE TURNER

But what is IPTAY? By constitutional definition, IPTAY is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization with the primary goal of providing scholarships for student athletes at Clemson University; it is self-supporting. But IPTAY is much more than numbers. IPTAY is 19,000 people who believe that Clemson deserves only the best, and, these people are willing to work unselfishly to make and keep Clemson number one. Athletic Director Bill McLellan believes, "Without a doubt, the unprecedented period of growth in Clemson Athletics would not have been possible without the support of IPTAY."

We are completing the first fifty years of a long journey. But where will IPTAY be fifty years down the road? "The key to Clemson's success has been and will continue to be people," according to Joe Turner, Executive Secretary of IPTAY. "If we have unlocked some unique qualities on Saturdays at Death Valley or in Littlejohn, it is because of the love and sincerity of the people who support the Tigers. It is this commitment that has taken Clemson through the first 50 years and will certainly keep Clemson "Number One" through the next fifty years."

Assistant Coaches

Don Denning is in his third season with the Clemson staff after joining the Tigers on July 1, 1981. The secondary coach has previously served stints at Western Carolina, Memphis State and Delta State. He is a 1960 graduate of Presbyterian College. He has served as an assistant coach, head coach and assistant athletic director throughout his athletic career.

Tom Harper came to Clemson from Virginia Tech where he had served as defensive coordinator. The native of Piqua, OH, is now in his third season in that capacity at Clemson. Like Don Denning, Harper has also served as a head coach in his career, as he was the top man at Wake Forest in 1972. Harper serves as assistant head coach at Clemson.

Les Herrin has been the director of Clemson's fine linebacking crew the last two seasons. He came to the Tigers from Appalachian State where he had served as the defensive coordinator. The 1971 Western Carolina graduate captained the Catamount team in 1970 and also was named most valuable player of the defense that same season.

Lawson Holland is the only current member of the staff who also played his college football at Clemson. The likeable receiver coach was a reserve quarterback for the Tigers between 1970 and 1973. Now in his fifth season at Clemson, Holland, who works with the receivers, earned his B.A. in secondary education.

Woody McCorvey is the newest member of the Clemson coaching staff, as he climbed aboard just this past July. Clemson's new tight ends coach had been the offensive coordinator at Alabama A&M University the last four seasons. The native of Grove Hill, AL was a four-year letterman at Alabama State as a quarterback. He earned his degree in physical education.

Chuck Reedy is one of the reasons Clemson's ground attack has been so outstanding the last few years, as he has served as the running backs coach. Now in his sixth season, Reedy joined the Clemson staff from Kentucky in July of 1978. The 1971 Appalachian State graduate earned two letters on the gridiron during his playing days.

Nelson Stokley played collegiately at a fine southern institution and he now coaches in the college ranks in the same area of the country. The starting quarterback for the LSU Tigers between 1965 and 1967, Stokley is now the offensive coordinator for the Clemson Tigers. He is now in his fourth season at Clemson after serving as an assistant at his alma mater and at Virginia Tech.

Larry Van Der Heyden is a transplanted midwesterner who is now in his fifth season on the Clemson staff. He has coached some fine offensive linemen in recent years and is one of the major reasons the Tiger ground game has been so successful. The native of Moline, IL played both football and baseball for three seasons at Iowa State.

Tommy West is in his second season on the Clemson coaching staff. Last year he worked with the defensive ends and had the pleasure of coaching players like Andy Headen, Joe Glenn and Edgar Pickett. West was a fine player himself, lettering in the mid-seventies for the Volunteers of Tennessee.

Rick Whitt is in his fourth season working in the Clemson secondary. A 1976 graduate of Catawba, he also has had some experience with the Bandit ends, one of the most important positions on the Clemson defense. Whitt started for three seasons at strong safety for Catawba before starting his coaching career at Central Davidson High School in Lexington, NC. He is this year's volunteer coach.

JOIN THE FASTEST-GROWING FAN CLUB IN AMERICA.

At Piedmont, we've been winning new fans at a record-setting pace.

This past year alone, for example, we counted over 8.5 million. A million more than the year before.

So, why are so many fans flocking to our gates?

We think it's because we offer an alternative. An aerial game plan that gives the air traveler a lot of options.

For instance, nonstops and directs where the other airlines offer only connections.

Or fast, easy connections through airports that are smaller and less congested.

In short, it's a strategy that has helped us gain ground almost everywhere we've gone.

Which has helped make us, since 1978, the fastest-growing major airline in America.

For the fourth time in the last five years the Clemson all-around sports program has been ranked in the top five in the nation. The survey, conducted by the Knoxville Journal, takes into account national rankings in selected sports. Women's sports are not included in this poll, which has been in existence since 1971.

This poll is a good index of the rise of Clemson athletics over the years. The Tigers were first ranked in the survey in 1975-76 with a number-20 finish. In the 1978-79 Clemson climbed to fourth, and in 1979-80 gained a number-three ranking, the school's highest ever. Two years ago Clemson was fourth and last year the Tigers picked up the number-five rating.

This past year Clemson scored in five of the 10 sports involved in the survey. The Clemson cross country, football and soccer teams all finished eighth in the country, while the men's tennis team was ninth. Bobby Robinson's golfers were fifth to record the highest team ranking in a men's sport.

The women also did well as the women's cross country team finished fifth, the women's indoor track team was 10th and the women's tennis team was rated seventh in the final polls.

Tom Drake will let you know in a hurry he likes to keep a low profile — but it's pretty hard to do when you have a family of 10 and you've been named the 1983 South Carolina Family of the Year.

When his family won the award this summer, the Clemson University professor of electrical and computer engineering was propelled into the spotlight. Now it seems anywhere he goes he runs the risk of being recognized by total strangers.

"This summer when we went on vacation, we hardly had time to get out of the car before our 'neighbor' came running over. She'd seen our picture in a newspaper and recognized us," he says. "But then, I guess we were pretty easy to recognize."

Any family of 10 draws attention, especially when the children come from different racial backgrounds. Tom and his wife Carolyn have two biological sons and six adopted children — three of whom are Korean and three who are biracial.

Running such a large family requires special talents. Coordinating dance lessons, ballgames and play practices with household duties, school and Tom's work schedule is a task most parents would find difficult — if not impossible.

The Drakes handle it all in stride, but like any family, they do run into some snags.

For example, little Denise was once left at church. "She had been with us only a short time, and I simply forgot her," Carolyn explains. Of course, the absence was discovered immediately and Denise was retrieved.

Tom and Carolyn say their decision to adopt was made for "purely selfish reasons."

"We didn't decide to adopt simply to 'rescue' a child," she explains. "We love children and wanted to expand our existing family, but we also believed that more than two reproductions of ourselves would be extravagant."

"We had talked about adoption before we were married and thought it was a good idea," Tom adds. "However, we never planned on eight children — I guess we simply got hooked on adoption."

"Perhaps the most difficult part of expanding the family unit this way was that the children were not adopted in order of age," Carolyn says. "That made it a little harder for each child to determine exactly where he or she fit in."

The children have blossomed in the Drake home. Betsy, the youngest, has changed from a quiet, shy child to a charming little imp who lets nothing get in her way when it comes to keeping up with the others.

Each child has individual talents. Steve is a computer fanatic, Kristin a regular in the Clemson Youth Theatre and Brian an outstanding athlete. However, Tom and Carolyn point out their children are no more special than the thousands of others available for adoption.

The Drakes serve as co-chairmen of the Pickens Council on Adoptable Children. They also work with South Carolina Seedlings, a publication of photographs and biographical information about children waiting to be adopted.

As South Carolina's family of the year, the Drakes were honored at a special banquet at the governor's mansion this summer.

The Drake family was chosen for the award by a committee of representatives from the state's Department of Parks, Recreation and Tourism, the Department of Youth Services, the Department of Agriculture, the Commission on Aging, the Department of Social Services and the Clemson University Extension Service.

The Clemson Tigers

From 1896 to Glory
Lou Sahadi

- What it was like to play under coach John Heisman (1900-1903) — how he changed the entire game when his teams took the field
- The previously untold stories of the most glorious victories of the Clemson Tigers, and the ten greatest teams in Clemson history
- The first major work about Clemson football, Clemson fans, and their stadium, "Death Valley"

The Clemson Tigers is the story of one of the greatest collegiate football teams in history. The Tigers played their first game in 1896, and since then they have won more Atlantic Coast Conference games (106-58-4) than any other school. It was at Clemson that coach John Heisman (for whom the trophy is named) first earned the sobriquet of "genius." Then came other legendary coaches, such as Frank Howard, and seasons like that of the unbeaten (12-0) 1981 team, which clinched the national championship with a dramatic Orange Bowl victory over Nebraska. This is a story about how football traditions and rivalries are created, about the fanaticism of diehard Clemson fans and the joys of football through the American Southeast. □

Vincent, You Remember

By Tim Bourret

Would Sears have sold as much merchandise without Roebuck? Would Huntley have made it to the Nightly News without Brinkley? Would Laurel have been as funny without Hardy? No is probably the answer to each of the above queries.

Is Clemson a basketball title contender without Raymond Jones and Vincent Hamilton? Like each of the above questions the answer is no, and like a Hardy-less comedy team, a basketball team without Vincent Hamilton and Raymond Jones is not a funny situation.

This has been the problem plaguing the Tiger basketball team over the past two seasons as Bill Foster has had to meet a top 10 ranked schedule each of the past two seasons without a full complement of players. In 1981-82 Jones missed the season with a broken ankle, and last year, his close friend, guard Vincent Hamilton broke his right wrist and missed all but three games. In the last 59 Clemson contests Hamilton and Jones have played together only five games.

"We have had our share of injuries and it certainly threw us off course a bit," said Head Coach Bill Foster, who suffered his first losing season as a head coach in 1983 after 18 seasons on the college circuit. "Not having Vincent and Raymond playing together hurts because they complement each other so nicely.

"We have come so close in so many games over the past couple of seasons (Clemson has lost 16 games by six points or less in the last two years) and you have to feel in a lot of those games one player would have made the difference. We lost to Virginia by two points three times in the last two years, and you have to think we could have taken a couple of those with Raymond and Vincent both in the lineup."

A look at past statistics gives testimony to their importance in the Clemson program. Hamilton led the ACC in field goal percentage in 1981-82 as he hit 58.6 percent from the field. He was a second-team All-ACC choice with a 15-point average, a scoring figure he held until a broken wrist ended his 1982-83 season at the Great Alaska Shootout in November.

Jones started all 31 games a year ago after missing the 1981-82 campaign. He led the Tigers in scoring, rebounding and blocked shots last season, as he connected for 11.5 points per game on Clemson's balanced team. He was especially effective at season's end and scored 27 points against North Carolina in the ACC tournament to conclude the year on an up-tick. The 6-8 forward-center, like Hamilton, has been granted an extra year of eligibility because of the past injury, and will enter this season as a junior.

While Foster looks optimistically at the thought of having Jones and Hamilton fully healed and in the lineup night after night (as he did in 1980-81 when Clemson won 20 games) he can also smile at his roster of 10 returning lettermen from the 1982-83 season.

Foster went with a youth movement at midseason and was pleasantly surprised by the youngster's rally. Over the last 11 regular season games Clemson actually outscored the opposition, shot 50 percent from the field, 73 percent from the line and nearly upset North Carolina (3 point loss) and Virginia (2 point loss in overtime). The young group played with consistency on offense, setting a Clemson record for consecutive 80-point games (11), as five players averaged in double figures during the last third of the season.

"I was pleased with what I saw over the last half of last year," said Foster. "We threw the young guys to the lions and they never gave up and never stopped fighting.

"I still feel those close losses to Virginia and North Carolina are going to pay off down the road. We had a balanced team a year ago and everyone knew what it was like to contribute and everyone knew what it was like to ride the pine. It should motivate them for this season."

THE BACKCOURT

Clemson should be in great shape in the backcourt in 1983-84 as long as the injury bug does not find its way into Littlejohn Coliseum. Last season Vincent Hamilton, Mike Eppley and Marc Campbell missed 35 games collectively due to injury, throwing the shooting guard and point guard positions into turmoil.

Hamilton of course should be the leader of the backcourt. He has played the wing guard throughout his career and has been one of Clemson's most consistent players ever. He has started 53 of the 62 games he has played in and has scored in double figures in 40 of the games. He has a 56 percent shooting mark for his career from the field, the second best in Clemson history.

Campbell, a senior who played point and shooting guard in 1982-83, was the Clemson Comeback Player-of-the-Year. After playing only 13 minutes over the last nine games of 1981-82, Campbell became the second leading scorer on last year's club with a 9.1 average. He gained national attention with his impressive three-point goal accomplishments as he once hit 14 in a row from the distance and finished ninth in the nation overall with a 50.7 figure on the home run shots.

Mike Eppley is another candidate for a starting backcourt slot. He has, in fact, been the starting point guard in 33 games over the last two seasons. He has played in 42 of the 59 games during this time because of his commitments with the football team and a knee injury. Despite missing the time, Eppley has already risen to the number-four position on the all-time Clemson assist list.

Eppley, a 6-2 guard from Charlotte, NC, is one of the most prized athletes in the country. He is also the starting quarterback on Clemson's football team, the only Division I basketball-football starter in the NCAA. He also has a 3.3 grade point average in the classroom and is an academic All-America candidate for both sports in 1983-84.

Warren Wallace is the fourth returning letterman who is considered a pure guard. The sophomore who also hails from Charlotte, NC, scored 7.5 points per game as a most-of-the-time starter a year ago. He showed as much talent at guard as any player in the league at times, mostly because of his outstanding leaping ability, but he does need to improve his consistency level.

Three players might be considered hybrid backcourt-frontcourt players, valuable players in Foster's style of play. Chris Michael, Clarke Bynum and Glenn Corbit all figure to see playing time at either big guard or small forward.

Michael saw the most action of the three at the major college level last year. The 6-5 Rutherfordton, NC native scored 7.5 points per outing a year ago as he served as a starter in both the frontcourt and backcourt. He was a frontliner for 12 games, including each of the last six.

Bynum has served as a starter at both forward and guard throughout his career. One of the finest frontcourt passers around when playing that position, he is ranked in the top 10 in career assists at Clemson and has a fine long-range jumper.

Vincent Hamilton hopes to return to his 1981-82 form when he led the ACC in field goal percentage.

Raymond Don't You?

Corbit was one of the finest junior college players in the nation last year at Anderson JUCO. He averaged 24 points per game in setting a single season scoring record at the school that has produced such fine major college players as John Campbell and John Toms. He was a third-team JUCO All-American a season ago.

THE FRONT COURT

Five players who collectively started 70 games in only frontcourt positions return for the 1983-84 season. Raymond Jones, David Shaffer, Murray Jarman and Glen McCants all served as starters at one time or another, while Anthony Jenkins, one of Clemson's top scorers at season's end, played in 25 games as a reserve.

Jones is the leading returning scorer off last year's club. He was the team's most valuable player as he led Clemson in scoring and rebounding since the 10th game of the 1982-83 season. The Union, SC native was the only player to start every game a year ago.

Shaffer started the season strong and finished the year strong from his forward position. The 6-7 son of a former Olympic Gold Medalist (basketball), Shaffer was the third leading scorer a year ago with a 9.1 average. He scored in double figures in five of the first six games and three of the last four contests. He had 13 double figure scoring games overall and was second on the club in rebounding.

Murray Jarman might have been the most popular player on the Clemson team, popular with the Clemson coeds because of his looks, and popular with the rest of the Clemson male fanatics because of his leaping ability. He tallied 18 points against Ralph Sampson and Virginia then came back with the same total against Sam Perkins and North Carolina. Jarman started the season slow by scoring only 58 points in the first 19 games, he then tallied 143 points over the last 11 to finish with a 7.5 scoring figure. He led Clemson in field goal percentage for the season with a .523 figure.

Glen McCants started five games at mid-season and performed well for a rookie. In only his third career start, he had to face Ralph Sampson and Virginia and held the 7-4 center to only four points and six rebounds in 30 minutes of play.

Anthony Jenkins is the only returning pure frontcourt player who did not start a game last year, but it certainly is not an indication of his talent level. Jenkins was Clemson's best offensive player over the last six games of the season as he averaged 18 points per outing, including a Clemson season high 30-point effort in the Tigers' win over Duke. He also shot 59 percent from the field and 100 percent from the line (19-19) in the stretch.

Three rookies will help the Tigers this season. Ed Bleyntat is a 6-10 freshman from Valdese, NC who red-shirted last season at the center position. He scored 19.5 points per game in his senior year of high school. Harvey and Horace Grant, Clemson's first twin brother combination in basketball, are the other two big men. The 6-8 brothers scored over 15 points per game each last year for Hancock Central High School in Sparta, GA. Born on Independence Day, 1965, the Grant twins will help Clemson's frontcourt speed.

CIMARRON '84 THIS ONE'S GOT THE TOUCH.

The Cadillac touch. It's everywhere. You can feel it when you put Cadillac's road-hugging Touring Suspension to the test. You can see it ... inside and out. From leather-faced front buckets with lumbar support to a hand-buffed exterior finish. It's attention to detail, too. Like push-button air. And aluminum alloy wheels. You've got to drive this car ... and experience the Cadillac touch. Cimarron '84.

BEST OF ALL... IT'S A CADILLAC.

Let's Get It Together... Buckle Up.

THE THIRD ANNUAL

TEXTILE BOWL

CLEMSON
NORTH CAROLINA STATE

The Textile Bowl matches up two great universities in the Carolinas, North Carolina State and Clemson. Each is nationally recognized for outstanding athletics as well as programs in textile education and training. The Carolina textile industry is proud of both of these fine schools, their faculty, their students and their alumni, many of whom currently serve the industry in various management capacities.

The industry is not only committed to higher education in both states but also to a better way of life for its 334,000 employees and their families. The 1,794 plants in North and South Carolina produce almost half of America's textiles and provide good job opportunities and a promising future for today's young men and women.

The textile industry is also proud of its reputation as a good Carolina citizen. Much needed tax dollars, grants to the arts, hospitals, libraries and human service organizations as well as higher education are indicative of its sense of corporate responsibility.

Textiles and the Carolinas... partners for better products and a better way of life for everyone.

AT HALFTIME

Joseph L. Jennings, President, South Carolina Textile Manufacturers Association will present a $1,000 scholarship to the School of Textiles, Clemson University.

Charles J. Dunn, Executive Vice President, North Carolina Textile Manufacturers Association will present a $1,000 scholarship to the School of Textiles, North Carolina State.

TOYOTA OF

Chevrolet's M.V.P.

We're proud of our newest Most Valuable Performer—the new Corvette. The sporting analysts of the automotive world, the enthusiast magazines, are pretty impressed with it, too. Car and Driver magazine called it, "The most advanced production car on the planet."

That makes us feel pretty good at Chevrolet. Because a lot of deep thinking and hard work went into creating the new Corvette.

The dedication that went into Corvette is the same dedication demonstrated by the athletes of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. And since we know what hard work is all about, we established the Chevrolet Scholarship Program back in 1971. This awards the Most Valuable Players in NCAA football and basketball games with a donation to their respective school's general scholarship fund.

To date, over 1,800 scholarships, totaling over 1.9 million dollars, have been donated to assist men and women in furthering their educations.

At Chevrolet, we strive for excellence. That's why we support the goals of the NCAA and that's why we offer cars like our Most Valuable Performer—the new Corvette.

Let's get it together... buckle up

No Passing Fancy

By Tim Bourret

Clemson Memorial Stadium has undergone all kinds of changes in recent years. The seating capacity of the stadium has grown by 70 percent since 1978, and lavish private boxes circumscribe the stadium. A press box that holds over 100 writers and another 100 broadcasters and television employees is also a fine addition that makes Memorial Stadium one of the most modern facilities in the nation.

Next season, another change will be made, but it will take place inside the press box and will not be noticed by the common fan, nor affect the structure of the arena. The change will be a personnel adjustment as Norb Goebel, Clemson's passing statistic tabulator for the past 33 years will hang up his slide rule.

Goebel, a graduate of Colorado State, came to Clemson in 1946 as an associate forester. He was a great fan of Clemson and college football in general from his days in graduate school at Duke University. He attended all the games his first five years in Tigertown and secretly desired to become more involved in the Saturday afternoon festivities. In 1951 he got his break.

"I lived next door to Ed Osborne, who was the sports information director then," said Goebel reflectively. "He knew I loved football and wanted to be involved. One day he asked me if I wanted to work in the press box at football games because one of his statisticians was not going to be able to attend. The first game I worked was the September 22 Presbyterian game, and Ed had me keep the passing statistics. I have been doing it ever since with the exception of a few games in 1975."

That is quite an attendance record and in fact Norb worked the 150th game of his career this year when Georgia Tech came to town on September 24. All total he will have worked 154 Clemson home games by the end of the season.

Like anyone who has worked on a job for a number of years, Goebel has developed a system to keeping his stats and has a few "tools of the trade". His best innovation is his football slide rule, an instrument he developed himself. "The slide rule was built by Levi Smith, formerly of the Clemson woodshop, and a good friend of mine," said Goebel. "He built it just like an engineering slide rule, but adapted it to a football field. It was also made of black cherry wood to minimize shrinkage. It really allows me to compute yardage on passing interceptions and punting situations much quicker. I don't have to compute anything in my head. Many other statisticians have been interested in it, but it doesn't pay to patent it. There are only so many statisticians."

While the slide rule has lasted through the ages, Goebel has had to make a lot of adjustments in his career. There have been many rule changes and the task has gotten much tougher as the years have gone along. "The rules seem to change all the time on yardage. For instance there was a time when any play involving a clipping penalty was completely wiped out. Now there are some situations, depending on where the clip took place, where you have to credit some yardage. When you only do five games a year it is tough to keep the changes in your mind."

The slide rule

The work in the press box can be challenging and it certainly is serious most of the time, but there have been some light-hearted moments. "After Frank Howard's coaching career he came into the press box to watch the games. In his anxiety he used to call plays to himself during a ball game, it was difficult for him to get away from the game.

"Once during a real exciting game in 1970 he envisioned himself still coaching on the field. As a play developed in the game, there was a mixup in the backfield and a bad loss by Clemson. Without missing a beat, Frank stood up in all seriousness, and to everyone's surprise, yelled 'who in the H... called that play'. Realizing he made a boo-boo, he sat down quietly (there is never any cheering in the press box) and he continued to coach silently the rest of the game. Everyone kind of chuckled to themselves."

There have been many entertaining moments in the press box in 33 years, but Goebel also has some fond memories of events that have taken place on the field. "I can't pick between Steve Fuller and Tommy Kendrick as far as my favorite quarterback is concerned. They were both so exciting. Fuller's teams were a lot more successful but he had better players around him than Kendrick."

At 75 Norb Goebel will retire from the Clemson press box after many years of loyal service (only a heart attack the morning of a game prevented him from missing three games in 1975). After all these years, will he miss viewing the game in the press box? "I am looking forward to watching the games from the stands next year. It will be fun to sit back, relax and enjoy the game with my wife, tailgate right up until gametime, and really watch the game. When you keep stats you miss half the game. I never miss the Danny Ford show on Sundays because that is the first time I see many of the players."

After 33 years and 154 games, Norb deserves to sit wherever he wants and savor the finer pleasures of a football weekend.

Norb Goebel has been keeping Clemson and opponent passing statistics for 33 years.

CLEMSON, SOUTH CAROLINA 29631
TELEPHONE 803/656-2345

Dear Loyal Clemson Folks:

As president of the Clemson Alumni Association, I want to welcome all visitors to Clemson and hope you'll take a few minutes before you leave to see our beautiful campus, and talk with some of our students and professors. You will be amazed at what you see and hear!

Clemson University is on the move and you should be proud of the many accomplishments we have made academically over the last decade. We are bringing in top flight students, hiring excellent faculty, and turning out graduates ready for the world of work.

There is no finer way for loyal Clemson men and women to show their support for Clemson academics than through gifts to the Loyalty Fund. In this way you're saying you care about Clemson University and want to be counted among those willing to help in its future.

We hope you enjoy today's action. Just as we all hope the Tigers can prevail today, we have an even stronger desire to see Clemson University shine as one of the nation's best centers for learning.

Support the Loyalty Fund. It makes Clemson work!!

OUR PERFORMANCE is your business

If you're in the textile or paper industry, Chemsized can help your business. An integral part of the manufacturing process in the textile and paper industry is chemicals and Chemsized manufactures and supplies this important ingredient. And all this is based on another key word: PERFORMANCE. Performance is what counts and Chemsized products perform. Because of our success in helping textile and paper plants solve problems, Chemsized has become one of the fastest growing specialty chemical companies in the Southeast. In addition to supplying chemicals to manufacturers, Chemsized makes products to the customer's specifications. So, if you're in the textile or paper industry, remember these two words. Chemsized and performance.

STADIUM EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICE

The Clemson University Athletic Department provides the following for your safety and emergency medical needs:

1. Advanced cardiac life-support stations in four locations. (North stands, Upper North deck, South stands, Upper South deck.) These units are staffed with skill-care nurses, physicians, cardiologists, internists, paramedics, and EMTs.
2. Mobile units of EMTs and paramedics are strategically located throughout the entire stadium.
3. Ambulances with life-support equipment are available in North stand and South stand areas and have prearranged routes for evacuation to local hospitals. Learn to recognize these personnel and facilities. Announcements will inform you of special hazards — heat, bees, etc.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE

Please step back and give the organized stadium EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interferes with the efficiency of the EMS system. If you have basic or advanced training in specific life-support methods, make your qualifications known and offer your help. Untrained personnel can be frequently more harmful than helpful.

MEDICAL ADVICE FOR FANS

If you have a pre-existing medical or health problem, please check with your personal physician and obtain his advice before attending games. Many emergencies occurring at the stadium do so because of prior existing conditions. Use common sense in dressing, eating, drinking and in physical exertion. Be certain if you have any pre-existing medical conditions that you have identification on you as to the diagnosis and what medications you are currently taking.

Be aware of early warning signs of heart attacks: chest pain, chest tightness, shortness of breath, sweating, palpitations, fainting, nausea and vomiting.

Recognize that our most common serious medical problem at football games are heart attacks and allergic reactions to insect stings. Be aware that insect stings will continue to always be very frequent at outdoor sporting events and should always be treated with immediate ice until advice can be obtained. If you have ever had a reaction to bee or other insect sting, check with your personal physician as to whether you should carry a kit.

SUBARU. OFFICIAL U.S. SPORTS CAR.

Subaru has been helping America handle a lot of rough roads, including the ones that lead to championships.

In 1976, as The Official Car of The U.S. Ski Team, Subaru first supported this team whose members have since won World Cup titles in 1981, 1982 and 1983.

So whether you're headed downhill or uphill, Subaru would like to help you get there. And that's official.

Winter Sports

Men's Swimming

The Clemson men's swimming team tied a school record for wins in a season last year (eight) and defeated N.C. State for the first time ever. Coach Bob Boettner's team should be even better this year because of added depth and balance.

Scott Newkirk and Chip McElhatten will be among the leaders as they will contribute in the distance freestyle events. Newkirk represented the Virgin Islands in the Pan American games this past summer. The backstroke events should also be a strong point as NCAA qualifier Coy Cobb returns along with Jimmy Robinson and Tim Hausmann.

There will be stiff competition in the individual medleys this year and this might be the deepest area of the team. The 200 IM will be led by Boyd Wilson, Mike Labonge, Jay Hebert and Dick Mercer, but they will be pushed by freshmen Jeff LeBeau and Brad Larimore, both of whom were national qualifiers in high school.

The top member of the sprint events returning from last year is Coy Cobb, but he may not be used here if other returning swimmers can improve. Coy might be the best all-around swimmer at Clemson and he could help the team more by swimming a different event. Jeff Stachelek, Tim Caples and Steve Rogejis should compete for starting positions in these events.

Men's Indoor Track

Men's indoor track will be a question mark this winter for first-year coach Stan Narewski. "We have a lot of new folks with a lot of talent, but we won't know exactly how good they will be until we start running. With the Olympics next summer, some of our kids will be shooting for a berth, and they may have to direct their training toward the Games.

The Tigers will be led by distance runner Wybo Lelieveld. A senior from Stompwijk, Holland, Lelieveld finished fifth in the 1,000 meters at the NCAA Indoor Championships and also had a fourth-place finish in the 1,500 meters outdoors last year.

The other area of strength for the Tigers will be in the jumps, as sophomores Victor Smalls and Shelton Boyer return in the high jump, while junior Jeff Jones will return in the long jump. Smalls came in second at the ACC Championships with a vault of 7-1, while Boyer, who also plays wide receiver for the Tiger football team, won the TAC Junior National meet in June and represented the United States in a triangular meet against Canada and Italy. Boyer's personal best last season was 7-4. Jones won the long jump at the conference meet last spring with a leap of 24-9½, and should have a very good winter season.

Women's Basketball

Number-two ranked Clemson career scorer Mary Anne Cubelic has graduated, but Annie Tribble's Lady Tiger basketball team does return nine letter-winners from last season.

Peggy Caple is the most capable of the returning letter-winners as she led the ACC in rebounding with an 8.9 average and scored 12.7 points per game. The 6-4 center, tallest in Clemson women's basketball history, did have foul problems last year and when she had those problems the Clemson team had difficulties. Ten of Clemson's 17 losses last year came in games in which Caple fouled out.

Jacqui Jones started all but two games at forward as a freshman and was the leading rookie scorer in the ACC a year ago. The six-footer (one of six six-footers on the Clemson team) scored 12.1 points per game last year. Janet Knight should be the other starting forward. The ACC's leading freshman in field goal and free throw percentage, Knight scored 11.4 points a game last year.

Cynthia Austin, Denise Marshall and Melinda Hall should all see plenty of time in the backcourt and all three will challenge for the starting slots. Austin, who started 13 games a year ago, averaged 6.9 points per game and dealt out 90 assists. Hall led the team in assists with 108 and led all ACC freshmen in the category. Marshall is the only four-year senior on the club and scored 5.1 points a game last season. She is an outstanding defensive player and led the team in steals per minute by far.

Wrestling

This year will mark a season of transition for first-year coach Eddie Griffin and his Tiger wrestling team. Griffin, who won three NAIA championships in his four years at Central State (OK) University, will welcome one of the youngest squads in Clemson wrestling history.

This year's top returnee could be sophomore Joey McKenna, who won the conference championship last year in the 150-pound division. Other Tigers to watch are Kirk Hoffman (126), 18-10-1 last year, Larry Vance (134), 21-9-1, Tom Carr (142), 24-8, Chris Bojanovic (158), 20-9, and Greg Snyder (167), 31-10. In addition, nine freshmen will join the team, and as many as four could start immediately.

To refer to the schedule as "challenging" would be a gross understatement. Third-ranked Iowa State, as well as Oregon State and Wisconsin, who are both ranked among the top 30 in preseason polls, venture into Clemson. The Tigers, meanwhile, must visit N.C. State (ranked number -16) and North Carolina (number -17). Tournaments will probably pit Clemson against several other national powers.

The team may be young and the schedule is certainly difficult, but Coach Griffin and his squad are excited about the 1983-84 campaign. This enthusiasm should boost Clemson in its quest to build a perennial national contender.

Women's Swimming

Led by NCAA qualifier Linda Rutter and ACC finalist Sandy Pierson, the distance freestyle event should be stronger than ever for the women's swimming team. Linda spent the summer training in Colorado at the Olympic Training Center. Both girls will be pushed by freshman Molly Kueny. She was ranked 18th in the world for the 1500 meter freestyle, and trained this summer at the Olympic Training Center.

Just like last year, the butterfly events will be stronger than ever. Marian Wardlaw, Robin Zubeck, Sue Ball, Terry Bond, Sharon Scott and Sue Thiel are all returning and all of them were ACC finalists. None of these ladies will have a guaranteed spot as they face some talented freshmen. Jodie Lawaetz was a member of the Pan-American team last summer and a Virgin Island national record holder.

With a year's experience under their belts, Clemson is expecting a lot more from its breaststrokers. NCAA qualifier Betsy Hellman and ACC finalist Janney Zonneville and Judy Vanderhorst will return, and all three have their goals set on the NCAA's. Walk-on Katherine Christian will get a chance to help here.

Roy Brown

By Jill Mixon

For Senior defensive end Roy Brown playing football is just like working for the national car rental company, Avis, "when you're #2 you have to try harder." Throughout his career Brown has been hampered by injuries that have limited his playing time, but even so, Brown has been well enough to make a solid contribution to the Clemson football program.

"When I first came to Clemson I started out as a fullback, but the coaches quickly convinced me that I could be of more help at another position," offered Brown. "It didn't take much to make me change because I felt being on offense was too machine-like for me. Everything has to be done a certain way at a certain time, and I was not comfortable with that style. I like defense much better because it allows me more freedom. Don't get me wrong, I still have to play the basic technique, but it's not one set thing," said Brown.

Brown's current position, bandit, a concept brought to Clemson by assistant coach Tom Harper, certainly provides the freedom that Brown desires. Strong safety and bandit coach Rick Whitt conveyed the concept of this position. "A bandit is a defensive end who will sometimes play a defensive back, therefore he's got to be a good athlete. The bandit must possess size and speed so that he can drop back and control the tight ends. In other words the 'bandit' is a jack of all trades, and a master of none," explained Whitt.

The position fits someone who has had to adjust to turning points. The bandit's assignments change constantly and only a patient person could be successful in the position. Brown has shown his patience on the field and off. Only a patient person could put up with Brown's injury setbacks.

Both Brown and Whitt agree that his injuries and the fact that he hasn't been able to work out in the weight room with any consistency have held Brown back. Whitt stated, "Roy worked hard last year and played on the second-team behind Andy Headen. (Presently Headen is with the New York Giants of the NFL). At the end of last year Roy was our 'bandit' of the future, if he had kept improving."

During January of 1983, Brown temporarily stopped moving up the ladder when he fell victim to a case of appendicitis and had to have his appendix removed. "It was a big let down to me after working hard last year. I still worked out during the spring, but, I got behind when I wasn't able to go through the winter workouts," said Brown.

After spring practice was completed in April a decision was made to operate on Brown's shoulder to repair torn tissues. "Recovering from that shoulder operation is what really set me back more than anything," said Brown. "I wasn't able to get into the weight room and work over the summer. If I had been able to do that, I feel I would be stronger now and a better player. I still don't have the full range of motion in my shoulder today."

Even though Brown has encountered all of these injury problems he has been able to contribute to Clemson's recent successes. In 1982, he saw action in every contest and had a season high four tackles against the Georgia Bulldogs. In addition, Brown has been a solid member of the punting team for three years. Two weeks ago against Virginia Brown received his first starting nod at the bandit slot. It was a significant step in Brown's career, one that must have brought a smile to the face of his brother, former Clemson star Lester Brown.

Roy's guiding force in coming to Clemson was his older brother Lester, who ranks fifth on the Tigers all-time career rushing list. He is currently with the Montreal Concordes of the CFL. "He didn't say anything about getting me to come to Clemson, but I always felt he wanted me to come here," said Brown. "I wish I could have played football with him. He's a great runner, and I'm still hoping we could be teammates someday."

Tigers in the NFL

By Sam Blackman

Landing a spot on a pro football team is every young man's dream. Recently many former Clemson Tigers have realized childhood dreams by using a football career in Tigertown as a springboard to the NFL. From Dallas to New York, and San Francisco to Atlanta, the Tigers have representatives on 16 of the 28 NFL teams. Here is a synopsis of where they are and how they are doing. All information is through games of October 10.

Cliff Austin had an injury plagued start to his Clemson career when he had a knee injury that forced him to miss the 1979 season. His pro career has gotten off to the same start as he sprained an ankle in the preseason and missed the first five games of this season. On October 9 he was activated and played against the Atlanta Falcons on the special teams. He should see action in the backfield in the coming weeks, but has not yet carried the ball. He had over a four-yard average in preseason games.

Dan Benish was the only free agent of the class of '82 to stick with a pro team. Benish is a reserve defensive tackle with the Atlanta Falcons and has three tackles so far this season, one solo, one assist and one quarterback sack. He is currently listed as a backup to three different positions, an example of his all-around abilities.

Clemson has one of the few brother combinations in the NFL as Jeff and Joe Bostic, star linemen with Clemson in the mid-seventies, have stuck with NFL teams. Joe Bostic is the elder statesman of the family as he is in his fifth season with the St. Louis Cardinals, his fourth as a starting tackle. He was named the team's top offensive lineman last year.

Jeff Bostic is another of the free agent success stories who learned the trade at Clemson. After a season on the bench with Washington's Redskins, Jeff has now established himself as one of the top centers in the NFL. He has been a starter the last three seasons and has never had a bad snap on a punt or field goal attempt in the last four years. Pro observers say he is one of the best snappers in the game. He became the eighth Clemson player to earn a Super Bowl championship ring last January.

Jerry Butler is another of the graduates off the 1978 Gator Bowl team who has made it in the NFL. He is having another great year in 1983 with 28 receptions for 300 yards and two touchdowns. He had nine catches at Miami a couple of weeks ago. Butler has also established himself in the community with the Buffalo Bills as he has been named the team's Man-of-the-Year the last two seasons for his public service, and is involved in the United Way Campaign.

Jeff Bryant has started every game for the Seattle Seahawks since he was a first-round draft choice two years ago. Bryant currently has 26 tackles, including three sacks, as he leads the team's defensive linemen in both categories. In 1982 he started all nine games, had 36 tackles and three quarterback sacks. The native of Atlanta, GA was the sixth player taken in the 1982 draft, the second highest draft choice ever for a Clemson player.

Dwight Clark is one of the most surprising NFL stories ever, Clemson grad or not. In his entire Clemson career Clark caught only 33 passes. Already in 1983 (through six games) the native of Charlotte, NC had caught that total for 330 yards. He also had four touchdown passes this season to lead the 49ers. In 1982, despite playing only nine games because of the strike shortened season, he caught 60 passes for over 900 yards. Of course, Clark was the leading receiver in the NFL in 1981 when he and Joe Montana led the 49ers to the Super Bowl Championship. Clark has been a starter since the 1980 season.

Bennie Cunningham is the dean of the Clemson players in the pros since Charley Waters' retirement last year. Cunningham is now in his eighth season in the NFL, his seventh as the starting tight end for the Pittsburgh Steelers. So far this year he has 12 receptions for 159 yards, a 13.3-yard average. He had his finest year last season when he caught over 40 passes.

Jeff Davis, the Judge for the defense of Clemson's 1981 National Championship team, was a fifth-round pick of the Tampa Bay Bucs in 1982 and many did not expect him to make it in the NFL because of his lack of height. But, he is a starting linebacker for Bennie Cunningham is the dean of Clemson players in the NFL.

John McKay's team and has 22 tackles so far this season. He also has 10 tackles on kickoff returns to lead the team. In the preseason he had 35 tackles to lead the entire team.

Steve Fuller, who ran for 22 touchdowns and passed for the same total in his Clemson career, threw for exactly 22 touchdowns in his career with the Kansas City Chiefs. In his four seasons in K. C. Fuller played 52 games, had 817 attempts, 465 completions (.569 percentage), and threw for 5,333 yards. This fall he was traded to the Los Angeles Rams, where he serves as a backup quarterback this season. He has not yet appeared in a game with the Rams and played in just one preseason game.

Andy Headen is one of the young active outside linebackers on the New York Giants fine defense. He brought attention to his ability in a preseason game against the New York Jets when he had three quarterback sacks. In the regular season he has two quarterback sacks and 11 tackles so far as a reserve behind Lawrence Taylor, regarded as the finest linebacker in the NFL.

Steve Kenney signed as a free agent with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1979 and a year later he was playing in the Super Bowl. He saw action in that game and became a starter in 1981. He also was the first stringer at left guard last year and has been the starter this year, so his streak for consecutive starts is over 25 now.

Terry Kinard and Frank Magwood are both with the New York Giants. Kinard, the first-round pick, has appeared in every game as a reserve defensive back, but has not gained a starting position yet. He has eight tackles to his credit so far. He impressed many with three interceptions in preseason games. Magwood, a starting receiver for Clemson in 1982, was on injured reserve as the season began and was still in the capacity last week. He separated a shoulder in the preseason and is probably out for the season because of the injury.

Al Latimer is the prodigal son among the Clemson players in the pros. Latimer was a member of the special teams for the Philadelphia Eagles in 1979, but was let go after the season. He sat out the 1980 and 1981 seasons and then made the Detroit Lions as a free agent prior to the 1982 season. He was on injured reserve the first half of 1982, but became a starter after the strike. Latimer, who did not even start that often at Clemson as a defensive back, has started every game for the Lions this season. He has 15 tackles so far and one interception.

Chuck McSwain, Clemson's number-three ranked rusher of all-time, is also out for the season. The Dallas Cowboys' running back had surgery on a torn tendon in a finger and has a huge cast on his left arm. He got into only one game before the injury and did not carry the ball. In the preseason, however, he won the Miami game with two touchdowns in the final two minutes, one on an 80-yard pass.

CLEMSON PLAYERS IN NFL (As of October 10)

Name	Pos	Rookie Year	Current Status	Team

Jim Stuckey	DT	1980	Reserve	San Francisco 49ers
Perry Tuttle	WR	1982	Reserve	Buffalo Bills

Jeff McCall is still on the injured reserve roster of the Los Angeles Raiders. McCall suffered a broken ankle in preseason workouts and still has not returned to practice. Of course, the native of Fayetteville, NC was one of Clemson's finest fullbacks ever from an all-around standpoint. His blocking ability impressed the Raiders and most expect that he will be retained on the roster when he is well enough to play.

Archie Reese is in his sixth season of pro football, his second with the Los Angeles Raiders. He is a reserve defensive tackle for the first-place Raiders at the moment and has seven tackles this season, including two quarterback sacks. The native of Sumter, SC was a reserve much of last year, but his season was highlighted by an 80-yard fumble return for a touchdown in his very first game with the Raiders. Reese was a starting defensive tackle for the 1981 Super Bowl Champion San Francisco 49ers.

Johnny Rembert, who only played two seasons at Clemson and only one as a starter, is now starting at linebacker for the New England Patriots. He is fifth on the team in tackles with 38 (16 solo and 22 assists) and has one quarterback sack for 11 yards. In a recent game against the Baltimore Colts he had 12 stops. He was the leading tackler on the team through the first three preseason games.

Jim Stuckey is in his fourth season with the San Francisco 49ers after starting for the Tiggers between 1976 and 1979. The native of Cayce, SC has been an off and on starter for the 49ers throughout his career, including the 1981 season when he was a member of the Super Bowl Champions. This season Stuckey has played in every game, but is a reserve as he has picked up only nine tackles for the season.

Perry Tuttle is just getting over the injury bug with the Buffalo Bills. He had two receptions for 22 yards as a reserve against Miami earlier this month and will be counted on later this season to return to his old self. He suffered a shoulder injury in the preseason that forced him to miss the first five games of 1983.

So, today when you are watching the Tiggers, follow their progress closely. You may be watching NFL stars of tomorrow!

Tiger Band

By Jill Mixon

Today celebrates the Third Annual Textile Bowl as Clemson and N. C. State clash on the gridiron. The Textile Bowl, established in 1981, was designed to honor the textile industries in North and South Carolina. Clemson and N. C. State are nationally recognized for outstanding curricula in textiles. And, both schools are beneficiaries of grants made to higher education by the textile industry in the two Carolinas.

The Tiger Band will enter Frank Howard Field today to "Sock It To Em," and "Tiger Rag" as it prepares to kick off another exciting day of Tiger football in Death Valley. The pregame festivities include the presentation of the colors by the Air Force ROTC. As an added treat the N. C. State Chorus under the direction of Milton Bliss, will join the Clemson University Chorus for "America the Beautiful," and "The Star-Spangled Banner". The N. C. State Chorus gave a concert last evening in the Tillman Hall Auditorium.

Tiger Band would like to salute Rex Cottle, Alumni Master Teacher for 1983, as he dots the "i" in today's ceremonies. The Teacher-of-the-Year Award was bestowed upon him during commencement exercises on May 13, 1983. Presently, Cottle is the department head of economics in the College of Commerce and Industry. He received his undergraduate degree from Weber State in 1970 in mathematics, and his Ph.D. in economics from Texas A&M. Dr. Cottle and his wife Carol have two sons, Rex, Jr. and Kyle.

The band will conclude its pregame activities to a reprise of "Tiger Rag" as the team makes its traditional run down the hill to signify the start of another football game, Tiger style.

The halftime show will open with the N. C. State Marching Band under the direction of Frank Hammond. The N. C. State band will commence the halftime show with "Free," arranged by Robert Lamm and popularized by the group, Chicago. They will then turn toward the big band sound of Bennie Goodman as they present, "Sing Sing Sing". Field conductor, Richard Earnhardt, will lead the Wolfpack band in their final number, "Take The A Train," arranged by Duke Ellington.

Tiger Band will then take over the spotlight as they enter to "Topaz" an original composition by Jay Bocook. The percussion section is featured in Tiger Band's rendition of "Festive Dance". Then Tiger drum majors Kathy Anderson and Trace Ussery lead Tiger Band in their feature presentation, "Caravan" which is arranged by leaders of the big band sound era, Irvin Mills, Duke Ellington and Juan Tizol. The tempo slows down for Tiger Band's ballad presentation "We've Got Tonight," popularized by Sheena Easton and Kenny Rogers.

Highlighted today is the percussion section of Tiger Band. Members of this group play instruments ranging from the cymbals to the bass drum to the xylophone. The 1983 members are as follows: Walter Betsill, bass drum; Mark Biering, bass drum; Tom Boling, marimba; Tim Boulden, snare drum; Chad Brendle, snare drum; Barbara Byelick, cymbals; Edith Cundy, cymbals; Barney Derrick, quads; David Franklin, snare drum; Frances Culdner, bass drum; Marty Hook, cymbals; Amy Lee, cymbals; Scott Martin, snare drum; Marshall McCrary, xylophone; Susan McKenzie, bells; Christie Moody, cymbals; Bob Morris, quads; Allen Nauvight, bass drum; Michael Pry, snare drum; Suzanne Rouse, bells; Robb Schikner, bass drum; Rick Schwavz, snare drum; Rynn Sharpe, cymbals; Andy Steele, quads; Rob Taylor, snare drum; Gary Vanover, snare drum; Ernest Wheeler, vibraphone.

The Tiger Band will exit the field to a reprise of the song that shakes the Southland — "Tiger Rag" and prepares for another half of action against the Wolfpack.
